MAAMOR

For a lucid understanding of this Maamor please listen to Rabbi Yossi Paltiel's class (Class: #2. Shuva Yisroel 5749) on this Maamor at: <https://insidechapsageid2us.org/maamarim/maamarimof-the-rebbe/text-based-concise-summary/902-maamarim-5749>

Until HaShem: Why does the Possuk use the word עד meaning until as opposed to a Lamed before HaShem meaning to HaShem?

Your iniquity: This seems obvious that the Teshuvah is necessary because one has sinned [if someone has soiled himself he needs to go clean up] so what is the deeper message that this Possuk is here to tell us?

Return to HaShem: (Hoshea 14:3) The second Possuk reads:

There is a Possuk in the Haftora for this Shabbos that states: “

Haftora: For Shabbos Shuvah.

This week's Parsha: Parshas Vayeilech

שובה ישראל עד הוי' אלקיך כי כשלת בעוניך

Return, Yisroel, until HaShem your G-d, for you have stumbled in your iniquity”.

שובה ישראל עד הוי' אלקיך כי כשלת בעוניך (Hoshea 14:2) There is a Possuk:

CONCEPT

Return, Yisroel, until HaShem your G-d, for you have stumbled in your iniquity”. There are two kinds of Teshuvah, there is a lower level of Teshuvah to repair wrong doings and then there is a higher level of Teshuvah to return and connect to HaShem. How does one return and connect to HaShem?

Take words with yourselves and return to HaShem”.

The Alter Rebbe explains in His work Likkutei Torah in קחו עמכם דברים ושובו אל ה' א מרו א ליו כל- ת שא עון ו קח-טוב ו נ ש ל מה “ פ רים ש פ תינ

the discourses that deal with Shabbos Shuvoh which is (1812), covering the books of Bereishis and Shmos, with several Maamorim on Shavuot and Pesach. The second half was published in Zhitomir in 5608 (1848) under the title Likkutei Torah, with Maamorim covering the books of Vayikra, Bamidbar and Devorim, Shir HaShirim, Yomim Tovim, Rosh Hashana & Yom Kipur. Shabbos Shuvoh: The Shabbos between Rosh Hashono and Yom Kippur. Called by this name because of the opening words of the Haftarah

שׁוּבָה יִשְׂרָאֵל

and also as it is the Shabbos in the Aseres Yemei Teshuvah – the ten day of repentance incorporating Rosh Hashono and Yom Kippur. which is: In parenthesis the Rebbe says: Interestingly we don't find any Maamorim in Likkutei Torah specifically on Parshas Shoftim or on Parshas Vayeilech even though Parshas Vayeilech does not always fall out on Shabbos Shuvah. But there are some Maamorim in which several Pesukim from our Parsha are explained. According to the Friediker Rebbe even within the words of stories one needs to take note of all the intricate details of the timings and locations of the story even if they bear no relevance the Chassidishe Parsha א'for this week ב'that when the Possuk says “Return Yisroel ‘until’ HaShem your G-d, for you have stumbled ג'in your iniquity” refers to a very high spiritual level of Teshuvah ד'which relates to the on the essence of the story. So most certainly this is the case with regards to the fundamental Maamorim that can be found in Chassidus in the great works of Torah Ohr and Likkutei Torah that we need to delve into every point and nuance א'Chassidishe Parsha: This week's Parsha: The section of Likkutei Torah and Torah Or on the weekly Parsha is referred to as the Chasidishe Parsha. As the Rebbe says: “Everyone should take upon themselves, without a vow, to finish the two Seforim of Likkutei Torah and Torah Or (not including the section dealing with Shir HaShirim) until the week of Shabbos Parshas Bereshis, then we will start to read the Torah again from the beginning. Everyone should learn the Maamarim for the Parsha of the week.”

אין (3:1) Stumbled: As the Talmud states in Sotah 3:1. This week: Parshas Vayeilech.

ריש לקיש אמר אדם עובר עבירה אא"כ נכנס בו רוח " שטות

Reish Lokish says a person only sins because a spirit of foolishness has entered him".

ידLevel of Teshuvah: The Talmud in Yoma 86b declares there are generally two types of Teshuvah. Reish Lakish said: Teshuvah is Great, as the penitent's intentional sins are counted for him as unwitting transgressions, as it is stated:

שובה ישראל עד ה' אלהיך כי " כשלת בעונך

Return, Israel, to HaShem your G-d, for you have stumbled in your iniquity"

(Hoshea 14:2). The Talmud analyses this: Doesn't "iniquity" mean an intentional sin? Yet the prophet calls it stumbling, implying that one who repents is considered as though he only stumbled accidentally in his transgression. The Talmud asks: Is that so? Didn't Reish Lokish himself say: Great is repentance, as one's intentional sins are counted for him as merits, as it is stated:

ובשוב רשע מרשעתו ועשה משפט וצדקה עליהם

(חיה) "And when the wicked turns from his wickedness, and does that which is lawful and right, he shall live thereby"

(Yechezkel 33:19), and all his deeds, even his transgressions, will become praiseworthy? The Talmud reconciles: This is not difficult: Here, when one repents out of love, B'nei Yisroel at a dimension of the name Yisroel which is a very high spiritual level. It is known that Teshuvah his sins become like merits; there, when one repents out of fear, his sins are counted as unwitting transgressions. Name Yisroel: There are several Pessukim (Particularly in the Parsha of Bolok in the blessing the Bilaam laid upon the Jews which we are told pertain to the redemption) that talk about both Yaakov and Yisroel and the two diametrically opposed situations they represent. The name ישראל is made up of the words ל' ראש This is the secret of the head which is the seat of the Neshomoh versus the י' קב which is the Yud of HaShem standing on the heel. So the heel is the lowest part of the human body versus the head which is the very top of the body. In Yaakov's dream the Possuk states:

וַיַּחלֹם וַיֵּה נֶחֱסֵם לָם מִצֵּב אֶרְצָה וּרְאִשׁוֹ מַגִּיעַ “ה ש מ י מה

And (Yaakov) dreamt that there was a ladder standing on the ground and its head reached the heavens”

the ground is how Yaakov was at first but after contemplating his situation in Golus and realising his potential he connects with his inner dimension and then his head reaches the heavens. It is known: In Rambam Hilchas Teshuvah (2:3): “What is repentance? The sinner shall cease sinning, and remove sin from his thoughts, and wholeheartedly conclude not to revert back to it, He who confesses by speech but has not his heart's consent to abandon his erstwhile conduct, behold him, he is like one taking an immersion of purification and in his grasp is an impure creeping thing,” In Iggeres Hateshuvah Perek One the Alter Rebbe writes the Mitzvah of repentance as required by the Torah is simply the abandonment of sin (As is brought down in the Talmud Sanhedrin, chapter. Three; and in Choshen Mishpat, end of Section. Thirty-four, regarding testimony), where it is stated that if a potential witness simply abandons and does not repeat the transgression that had previously disqualified him, he is once again able to testify. This means that he must resolve in perfect sincerity never again to revert to folly, to rebel against G-d's rule; he will never again violate the King's command, G-d forbid, neither a positive command nor a prohibition This is the basic meaning of the term Teshuvah (repentance) to return to HaShem with all one's heart and soul, to serve Him, and to observe all His commandments. For so does Scripture state: יַעֲזֹב וַיָּשׁוּב אֵל

רשע דרכו ואיש און מחשבותיו

“ וגו' Let the wicked abandon his path, and the sinful his thoughts, and return to G-d....” and in parshas Nitzovim it is likewise written: וּשְׁבַת

עד ה' אלקיך ושמעת בקולו וגו' בכל

לָבָבְךָ וְגו' You shall return unto is primarily in the heart and there are many levels in the heart which means that there are many levels of Teshuvah. The Teshuvah here in our Possuk refers to HaShem your G-d and hearken to His voice ... with all your heart....” So, too: (Hoshea 14:2) “Return, O Israel, unto HaShem your G-d...”; and elsewhere: (Eicha 5:22) “Bring us back, HaShem, unto You...”

Teshuvah is primarily in the heart. In Tanya: (Chapter 29) True, he may already have repented sincerely and thereby removed the blemish and cleansed himself. But the essence of repentance is in the heart, and in the heart, there are many distinctions and levels. Moreover, everything depends on what kind of a man he is (— the greater his stature, the higher the level of repentance required of him), and on the time and place in which he now stands, as is known to the knowing. Whenever and wherever one is less tempted by a particular sin, a deeper and loftier level of repentance is expected of him for having committed that sin, than at a time when he is more strongly tempted and must fight more insistently to resist that temptation. Similarly, time and place create other differences with respect to repentance. Therefore, judging by one’s present situation, his earlier repentance may be inadequate in erasing his past sins. Perhaps, then, the absence of a higher form of repentance required of him now causes his sins to interpose between himself and G-d, preventing the light of his soul from penetrating his heart — as the Alter Rebbe continues: Consequently, now, at this time, when observing himself he sees that “the light of the soul does not penetrate into him,” it is evident that either, (a) his repentance has not been accepted, and his sins still separate him from G-dliness; or (b) it is desired that he be raised to a more sublime level of repentance, coming from a point yet deeper in his heart than his earlier repentance. Far from indicating Divine displeasure, the rejection of his repentance in this latter case points to Divine favor: a desire to raise this person to yet greater heights of repentance. Hence the difficulties in his divine service and the Timtum Halev — so that he will call forth greater resources from within himself and repent more deeply.

someone who is on the spiritual level of Yisroel. And when one’s Avodah is on such a high level as this then his Teshuvah is the type of Teshuvah that is [אל קיך] one is positioning oneself immersed within Gdliness] until ‘Havaye’ your G-d. In Likkutei Torah the Alter Rebbe explains that the Possuk “

שובה ישר אל עד ה' אל קיך

Return, Yisroel, to HaShem your G-d” means that the extent of one’s Teshuvah needs to be until [what was considered yesterday as] the spiritual state of ‘Havaye’ becomes considered as the lower [revealed] Divine level of ‘Elokim’ In comparison to HaShem’s infinite essence Spiritual level of Yisroel: The name of Jews Yisroel alludes to a spiritually higher level of Jew as the word Yisroel refers to the head in contrast to the name Yaakov which refers to the heel. Type of Teshuvah: There are two kinds of Teshuvah, there is a lower level of Teshuvah to repair wrong doings and then there is a higher level of Teshuvah to return and connect to HaShem. Here we refer to the type of Teshuvah which is until Havayeh Elokecho. Until Havaye: HAVAYE is the permitted pronunciation of Hashem's ineffable name the tetragrammaton, other pronunciations are forbidden until the time when 'Hashem Echod Ushmoi Echad' in the upcoming third Beis Hamikdosh Havaye means the infinite plainness of HaShem. אַחַד Till Havaye becomes his Elokim:

which is above the state of 'Havaye' to him. This is consistent with the explanation given אַחַד to the intonation recited at the peak of the Ne'ila services on Yom Kippur 'א

ה ו י הוּא ה אֵל קִים

Havaye is Elokim'.

The explanation given is that when Zoh(אַחַד Symbolising The Name Havaye is a Divine name that transcends nature and stands for

ה י הוּא ה ו י ה י ה

was is and will be as HaShem truly transcends time, whereas the Divine name Elokim [which refers to the containment of HaShem] has the same numerical value as the word ט ב ע which means nature so the name Havaye is spiritually higher than the name Elokim. [UNVERIFIED — gematria not independently confirmed this run]

The name Elokim conceals the light of the name Havaya, as Havaye symbolises Chesed and Elokim symbolises Gevurah. When looking up at Havaye from below one realises the great spiritual distance between Havaye and Elokim, but as one grows spiritually and becomes closer connected to HaShem he begins to see how the almighty level of Havaye that he presumed to be the highest of the highs becomes a lower level of Gdlines as he understands Elokim to be, and observes a yet higher Divine level of Havaye on top. אַחַד Explanation given: In Mishnas Chassidim (from Ricki Refoel Imanuel Chai ben Avrohom 1687- 1743) it says: After Ne'ilah we say Hashem Hu Elokim and the intention is that HaShem which is Zoh (Ze'ir Anpin – small faces / supernal Middos) ascending to Elokim which is Nukvah which prefaced him in Binah HaShem which is Zoh returns to be in the state of Elokim in its ascent unto Atik which in comparison to Atik is considered like Elokim and also the intention is that HaShem which is Atik there ascends to Elokim which is Zeh and Binah because all three are there. It is said seven times which corresponds to seven Sefiros that Zoh ascends to higher than Chesed to the place of Binah which stands upon Chesed. Through all this the Dinim of Nukvah are sweetened אַחַד Zoh: Is an abbreviation for the words Ze'ir Anpin – small faces which is a name given to the supernal Middos the emotive attributes because their façade is much smaller than that of the intellectual attributes.

Havaye) ןascends into Atik ןit is considered to be 'Elokim'. ן We can add that with our Possuk means one should feel internally that the name 'Havaye' is your G-d, your strength and your vitality ןand the state of his 'Havaye' is indeed a very lofty level of 'Havaye' for him. Furthermore, the reason why we chant

עד ה ו י אל קיך

ה ו י הוא ה אל קים

'Havaye is Elokim'

seven times in 'Ne'ilah' is because within this itself there are seven levels ןOne higher than ןSymbolising Havaye: In the Tetragrammaton, Yud represents Chochmah, Hey- Binah and VovZoh. Malchut is the final Hey. ןAtik: Kesser also has an internal dimension called in Kabbalah Atik Yomin and an external dimension called Arich Anpin. In any stage of the Seder Hishtalshlut, Keter acts as the intermediary between one level and the next. Malchut of the higher level becomes Keter of the next. For example, in the four worlds, Malchut of Atzilut becomes a Keter to Beriah. The Atik of Keter is bound with the higher level and Arich is bound with the lower level. ןElokim: Because the lofty perspective of Atik, the level of Havaye is comparable to Elokim. ןYour strength and your vitality: As in the word your G-d which is where you get your energy and your vitality. ןSeven levels: Representing the seven supernal Middos.

the other. The first time

ה ו י הוא ה אל קים

is recited his ן spiritual level of 'Havaye' ascends to become a state of 'Elokim' and his upper spiritual level above this now becomes his 'Havaya'. When thereafter he recites

ה ו י הוא ה אל קים

a second time the intention אל is that also the next Higher tier לב of 'Havaye' which is above the first 'Havaye' now also becomes as 'Elokim'. And so too for all the seven recitations each one above the previous. The reason why 'Teshuvah' is even needed when one is on a level of 'Yisroel' ג' is because “

כ ש ל ת ב ע ו נ יך

You have ט His: The person reciting Havaye Hu HoElokim. His: Perspective as he grows in his spiritual awareness the supernal levels become less distant and he becomes more familiar with them. א' The intention: of the Sages who instituted these prayers. ב' Higher tier: Which was his new height above the old height. ג' Yisroel: If he is on the higher level spiritually than surely he should not have to do Teshuvah.

stumbled in your iniquity”. About this it is explained in Likkutei Torah that as a result of sin one stumbles. ד' In other words just as when one trips over something with his foot his head falls down, so too here, since there is an obstacle ה' in a state of 'foot' ו' it also causes a falling and a descent within the state of 'head' which is the spiritual state of 'Yisroel' as 'Yisroel' is made up of the words 'א' ראש' A head for me'. ז' Therefore, one needs to do 'Teshuvah' even when in the state of 'Yisroel' ח' and since the fall is also in the head which is the seat of one's internal faculties ט' this is why י' One stumbles: Seven times a Tzaddik falls and gets up again says Dovid Hamelech in Tehilim quoted by the Alter Rebbe in Tanya. י' Obstacle: An Aveira - a transgression. י' Foot: A sin is low like the foot. י' For me: For HaShem. י' State of Yisroel: Even Tzaddikim need to Teshuvah as the Zohar writes that Moshiach will come to help the Tzaddikim do Teshuvah. ט' Internal faculties: one's thought processors, control centre and feelings. This is why: Doing Teshuvah to the state of 'HaShem is your G-d' does not suffice but one needs to do a deeper Teshuvah as mentioned earlier so that the Teshuvah actually brings him up to a level where he realises that what the state of ‘

ה ו י אל ק יך

Havaye'

is your G-d' does not suffice alone but one needs the 'Havaye' to be 'Elokim' and to draw down a higher state of 'Havaye'. How does one attain this level in practice? For this the next Possuk states: “

Take words with yourselves and return to HaShem”.

. That in order to attain this spiritual level there needs to be a unique acquisition “

קחו עמכם דברים

Take words with yourselves”.

מא There are two explanations of what these words consist: Pirush one, is that they refer to the 'מג Thirteen he thought to be the ultimate level in G-dliness is actually a very low understanding of what HaShem really is. מא Take words with yourselves: How does this work? מב They refer: To the inner dimension of the Jew which is symbolised by the crying out from deep inside for the thirteen attributes of mercy. מג Thirteen attributes of mercy: The number 13 signifies the infinite. The number 12 signifies constraint and order: e.g., the 12 zodiac signs and the 12 months in a year. Above attributes of mercy' which never return empty handed. מד Pirush two is that these words are words of Torah and Mitzvos. מה The difference between these two explanations is similar to the difference between the two different types of 'Avodah'. The 'Avodah' of ‘

תמידים כסדרם

regular Korbon Tomid offerings’

מו which is synonymous with the order and control, 13 connotes boundlessness & immeasurability. The fact that there are humankind is already in distress ; ים ארץ אפ/ erech apayim — slow to anger (once, to the righteous) ים ארץ אפ/ erech apayim — slow to anger; (repeated again for the wicked) ורב חסד-ו/ ve'rov chesed — and plenteous in kindness; ו אמת/ ve'emet — and truth; ו צרח סד/ notzer chesed — keeping kindness ל א/ laalafim — unto thousands; ו נשא עון/ noseh avon — forgiving iniquity; ו פשע/ vafeshah — and transgression; ו חטא/ vechata'ah — and sin; ו נקה/ venakeh — and pardoning. מד Never return emptyhanded: The thirteen attributes of mercy will always show mercy. מה Torah and Mitzvos: This refers to Yiddishkeit, that has been inspired by a higher source. מ Regular Korbon Tomid offerings: This refers to one's daily routine.

regular Avodah of Torah and Mitzvos and the 'Avodah' of ‘ periodic additional offerings'

מwhich is synonymous with an Avodah which goes beyond regular boundaries and limitations. It transpires that the Possuk “

קחו עמכם דברים

'Take words with yourselves'

indeed incorporates both types of 'Avodah' - the Avodah of Torah and Mitzvos including 'the thirteen principles by which the Torah is expounded' symbolising a 'regular Korban Tomid offerings' - as well as the 'Avodah' which goes beyond the regular boundaries and limitations synonymous to the 'thirteen attributes of mercy' symbolising 'periodic additional offerings'. We can point out that these two explanations are in fact connected to each other; this is so because the thirteen מperiodic additional offerings: This refers to the extraordinary, going beyond one's limitation to grow..

attributes of mercy are interconnected with 'the thirteen principles by which the Torah is expounded'. This is because these 'principles' include both the study of Torah and the deeds of Torah which are the Halachos of Torah to the extent of actual deed [performance of Mitzvos] in the material world. As a result of this Avodah one is able to effectuate the words of the Possuk “

ושבו אל ה'

And return to HaShem”.

. And consistent with what is said in Likkutei Torah we could say that the word 'return' has two explanations: one is in the straightforward understanding meaning to 'return oneself' and a second meaning similar to the meaning of the Possuk in Tehilim“

שׁוּבָה ה' אֵת שְׁבִי תְנוּ מַח

Return HaShem our

שו בה " ה' את־ש בי תנו כ א פי קים ב נ גב

Return,

HaShem, our captivity like rivulets in arid land”.

Captivity” which is a transitive verb חמס and accordingly we can explain when the Possuk states:

ושובו אל ה' י

it means that it effectuates the concept of ‘return’

’ within the name of ‘Havaye’ itself, that the name of ‘Havaye’ itself ascends upwards from level to level. We can even posit that the fact that there is a possibility of “

קחו ע מ כם ד ב רים

Taking words with yourselves” in accordance with the Pirush that it is referring to ‘periodic additional offerings’ is specifically because of the descent which came about because “you have stumbled in your iniquity” [and this] because the descent is for the benefit of an ascent. To explain; Our Sages of Blessed memory have said that someone who is going through the desert and loses חמס Transitive verb: A transitive verb has two characteristics. First, it is an action verb, expressing a doable activity like kick, want, paint, write, eat, clean, etc. Second, it must have a direct object, something or someone who receives the action of the verb.

track of time and does not know when Shabbos is, shall count six days and sanctify the seventh day. Using this as a metaphor for one’s Avodah we can say that when a person is in a situation which can be categorised as walking in a desert as the Possuk states “

ב מ ד בר ה ע מים

In the desert of the nations” to the extent that he forgets which day he is, where 'day' symbolises light as the Possuk states“

ו י ק רא אל קים לאור יום נא

And HaShem called the light day” and forgetting the day would mean the lack of light; in such a case it is said that a Jew has the ability to count six days and to sanctify the As the Possuk states: (Yechezkal 20:35)

ו ה בא תי א ת כם אל- מד בר ה ע מים ו נש פ ט תי א ת כם שם פ נים אל- “ פ נים

And I shall bring you to the wilderness of the peoples, and I shall contend with you there, face to face.”

א Possuk states: (Bereishis 1:5)

ו י ק רא אל קים לאור יום ו לח שך ק רא ל י לה “ ו י ה- ע רב ו י ה- ב קר יום א חד

And HaShem called the light day, and the darkness He called night, and it was evening, and it was morning, one day” seventh day, that even in this situation he can draw down the lofty lights of Shabbos. Furthermore, the Halocho is that even on his six weekdays he is forbidden from doing anything which is forbidden on Shabbos, and on each day, he is only permitted to do what little he needs to do in order to survive for that one day. So, the six weekdays of a person lost in the desert emerge to be more exalted than Yom Tov days. This is because on Yom Tov one is Biblically completely permitted to carry out tasks which involve the preparation of food, whereas on his weekdays in the desert he can only prepare for what he needs to sustain himself for that very day. From here we see that specifically because of his incredible descent into the desert does he have the impetus to draw down such a lofty holiness even into his workdays. This is the concept of our Possuk:

שו בה י ש ר אל עד ה ו י

אל קיך כי כ ש ל ת ב עו ניך קחו ע מ כם ד ב רים גו

Return, Yisroel, to HaShem your G-d, for you have stumbled in your iniquity.

. Take words with yourselves and return to HaShem”. Specifically, because “you have stumbled in your iniquity” [this results in a situation] that ‘he is walking in the desert’, and that he [now] has the opportunity to take, so to speak, ‘new words’. For even though the Torah dictates

לא תו סיף ולא ת ג רע נב

“Do not add – Do not diminish”

he has the ability so to נב Torah dictates: (Devorim 4:2)

א ת ספו על־ה ד בר א שר א נ כי מ צוה א ת כם ול א ת ג רעו מ מנו לש מר את־מ
צות ה־ “ אל קי כם א שר א נ כי מ צוה א ת כם

Do not add to the word which I command you, nor diminish from it, to observe the commandments of HaShem your G-d which I command you.”

speaking to take new words,

קחו ע מ כם ד ב רים

in a ‘periodic additional offerings’ manner, beyond any boundaries or limitations set by the Torah, so that even a day which according to the Torah is not Shabbos a Jew has the ability to make into a Shabbos! What’s more is that on his weekdays he can also draw down holiness as mentioned above. Even though the above explanation is expounded in Likkutei Torah, so there is the possibility to say that it could only apply to a person, who studies Likkutei Torah and studies

it in depth, however, it could also be said that this Avodah is relevant to every single one of Yisroel, for this Possuk is said the Haftorah of Shabbos Page | 21

Shuvah which everyone hears in Shul, including men women and children, so from this it is [self]understood to be relevant to the ‘Avodah’ of [each and] every one of Yisroel. Furthermore, it has the impetus of Shabbos, for Shabbos is fixed into the nature of the world and the nature of creation as the Talmud states:

שבת מי קדשא נגד ק"י מא

Every seventh day is automatically Shabbos which means that it is not dependant on the status or standing of the B'nei Yisroel.

There is something wonderous that we can add! This concept of ‘Havaye is your G-d’ comes out in a revealed נגד Talmud states: (Beitzah 17a) A Tanna taught a Braisa before Ravina: He concludes the blessing with: Who sanctifies the Jewish people, Shabbos, and the seasons. Ravina said to that Tanna: Is that to say that the Jewish people sanctify Shabbos? Isn't Shabbos already sanctified from the six days of Creation?

שבת מי קדשא נגד ק"י מא

Every

seventh day is automatically Shabbos, without the need for any declaration on the part of the Jewish people. Rather, amend it and say as follows: Who sanctifies Shabbos, the Jewish people, and the seasons, as the Jewish people indeed sanctify the New Moon and the Festival days.

way on the body of every one of B'nei Yisroel as is explained elsewhere on the Possuk in Tehilim:

שוי תינד "הו"ל נגדי תמיד

I have placed ‘Havaye’

before me” נה that every face has the name of ‘Havaye’ imprinted on it. The ‘eyes’ to see is the faculty of vision (which corresponds to Chochma) is the first letter ‘Yud’; the ‘ears’ to hear is the auditory faculty (which corresponds to Binah) and is the first ‘Hey’; the nose is the letter

‘Vov’ (which looks like a nose) and the mouth is the last letter ‘Hey’ נד Possuk in Tehilim:
(16:8)

שׁוֹי תִּי “ הִ' לִנְגִידִי תִּמִּיד כִּי מִי מִי נִי בִלְ- אֲמוּט

I have placed ‘Havaye’

before me constantly because He is at my right hand, I will not falter”. I have placed Havaye before me: Interestingly this Possuk is brought by the Remoh at the beginning of Shulchon Oruch (Its source is in Moreh Nevuchim from the Rambam) and it is also brought in the Beginning of Tzavoas Horivash (Which is basically the words of the Baal Shem Tov).

(Symbolising the five types of sounds from the mouth). This is the meaning of the Possuk “I have placed ‘Havaye’ before me constantly” that when one looks at a Jew (either in the mirror or at another) in whatever situation it might be, even whilst G-d forbid he might be acting in a manner which is contrary to our Torah values, you can see on him not the name ‘Elokim’ but the name ‘Havaye’ as the Possuk states: “I have placed ‘Havaye’ before me constantly”. This is also the reason that it is no wonder why this concept of “

שׁוֹבֵה יִשְׂרָאֵל עַד הוּא “ אֵל קִיךְ

Return, Yisroel, to ‘Havaye’

your G-d” ‘that ‘Havaye’ shall be your strength and your vitality’ is relevant to everyone of Yisroel. This is because even on the bodies of every single member of the B’nei Yisroel, HaShem’s name ‘Havaye’ is complete. This is in an open and revealed manner to Page | 24 such an extent that it is ” עֵהוּ common knowledge from one [person] to another. בְּכָל- דֶּרֶךְ כִּיךְ דֵּעָה young children it is emphasised even more that the knowledge is about HaShem’s very essence because they don’t have knowledge of ‘Havaye’, whereas adults first have a knowledge of the name ‘Havaye’ and only thereafter are they able to ascend to higher levels beyond the name of ‘Havaye’ until they get to HaShem’s very essence and being Blessed be He.

נח. If I would have His knowledge I would be Him”.

נח I would be Him: As Quoted from the Sefer Ho’Ikrim (Maamor 2 end Perek 30): From this we may get an idea of the great joy and delight which HaShem has in the apprehension of His own essence, for He has an infinite number of perfections, and each one is infinite in worth. Therefore, no other being can apprehend His essence, as the wise man said when they asked him if he knew the quiddity of HaShem. His answer was, if I knew Him, I would be He. The meaning is, there is no one who apprehends His essence except HaShem, though His existence is evident most plainly to all from His acts. Praise be to Him who surpasses us with His perfection; who is hidden from us despite His intense visibility, as the light of the sun and his agreeableness are hidden from those of weak sight. Their defective understanding does not prove His non-existence. The most that we can understand about HaShem is that we cannot understand Him, as the wise man said: The sum total of what we know of Thee is that we do not know Thee.
